Farm And Home Show
Last Week Seen By More Than One Thousand Visitors

The Coffee County Farm and Home Show held at Taylor's Warehouse in Elba last Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20-21, displayed numerous labor saving devices varying from dish washers and play pens to grain drills and feed crushers. According to local comment the show was most beneficial to its more than one thousand visitors.

Special services for the show were rendered by Taylor Warehouse Company who provided the building and other facilities. Superior Gas Company who furnished appliances and Garret Motor Company who furnished refrigeration for perishable foods.

You will notice also that the nice clean places are overwhelmed by the people. The show was a success. The show was a success. The show was a success.

This is the last issue of The Clipper to be published under present ownership and the appropriate time for us to say "Goodbye" to our readers and friends and to express to them our appreciation for their loyalty and patronage over a long period of years.

During the week end the physical property, name, good will and prestige of The Clipper will be transferred to Mr. Edward J. Rieburg, a native of Opp and until about five weeks ago, was in charge of the clinic. Mr. Rieburg, who will take over on June 1 is the owner and publisher. Mr. Rieburg has had several years experience in the newspaper and printing business. With his youth and vigor, and the full cooperation of Elba business men and all other citizens, The Clipper will continue to grow in popularity, influence and prestige.

Our connection with the paper dates back to 1932 or 1933, when we started as the "Elba News" and later as the "Elba News" and later as the "Elba News". We have been with the paper for over six years, during which time Mr. Powell had sold his interest to Mr. Rieburg. Revival Services To Be Held At New Brockton Methodist Church

A series of revival services will be held at the New Brockton Methodist Church, beginning May 29 and continuing through June 8. The pastor, Rev. Cecil Bradley will lead the singing. Rev. B. B. Baskin, of Dallas, Texas, will also conduct a series of revival services from 7:45 to 9:30 p. m. each evening. He is a good musician and will be favorably remembered from last year. Elba High School will hold the interest of their large audience from their first to last words.

Mr. Dixon, in a short but carefully worded and well spoken introduction, presented Hon. James E. Folsom, governor of Alabama, who addressed the graduates and gave them some words of sound and good advice.

It was a distinct pleasure to Elba, and particularly the school to have as guest speaker on this occasion one of its former graduates, who has attained the honor of being Alabama's first citizen.

Governor Folsom Speaks To High School Graduates; Large Crowd Present

Governor James E. Folsom spoke to a large audience at the Elba High School Auditorium Friday evening when he delivered the graduating address to the class of '47. Every available seat was filled and many stood during the program. It was estimated that at least one thousand people were there.

Seats were reserved for parents of the seventy-one graduates and for a few other special guests. After the professional invocation was given, by Judge J. A. Canfield, Supt. Dixon recognized all members of Gov. Folsom's graduating class of 27 who were present. They sat in a reserved section and included: Jessie Lee, Mrs. Brunsen, Irma Lee Hornsby, Paul Vaughan, Kittle Moore, Philip Ham, Margaret Ham, Alfred Seymour, Bruce Crook, and Harvey Leckler.

At this time Supt. Dixon recognized all platform guests except the Governor and they were: Judge J. A. Canfield, Mr. L. P. Mullins, Supt. A. C. Dunaway, Philip Ham, Fleetwood Curley and State Representative H. B. Larkin.

The class salutatorian, Miss Frances Bell, was presented and her welcome address. Miss Kate Maddox followed her with the valedictory address. These young ladies did themselves and their school credit and held the interest of their large audience from their first to last words.

How to Control Leptospirosis

Leptospirosis is a disease that loses their leaves. This reduces the yield. Peanuts that have lost their leaves show "Heads".
The leaves in the soil very quickly rot and the peanuts in the soil are losing peanuts every year.
Leptospirosis is a disease that loses their leaves. Here are the main things they have found out up to now:

In addition to increasing yield by controlling weasels, dusting peanuts prevents the shedding of leaves and reduces the amount of shedding of peanuts in the ground. This lengthens the period of time in which peanuts may be dug by one to two weeks.

2. Spanish peanut yields were increased 20 to 25 lbs. of peanuts per acre when dusted with sulphur and 300 to 325 when dusted with a sulphur-copper mixture.

3. Spanish peanuts, 3 to 4 times as many as the Spanish peanuts of the dusting are grown, beginning when the peanuts are about 65 days old.
In South Alabama this will usually be June 15 to June 30. The dust is applied at the rate of 30 lbs. per acre at 10 days to two weeks intervals.

4. Runner peanuts have not grown as consistent increase in yield from dusting as the Spanish peanuts have given. It appears that leptoform huts runner peanuts on soils of medium to low fertility more than on the fertile land where the growth of vines is heavier. On the thin or light soils dusting has been more profitable for runners than for Spanish peanuts.

5. It was found that runner peanuts require about the same rate and number of dustings as do Spanish but the first application is made about July 1.
The work of the Experiment Station and demonstration for about three years in the Wire-grass show that dusting with sulphur or a copper-sulphur mixture for leptoform is a practice that will help us increase our peanut yields.

Extension Launches DDT Sulphur Program

Flies and mosquitoes that live through the next few months will shudder whenever they recall the terrible summer of '47.
The fact is that not many will be alive when the state-wide DDT spraying program is well underway. Launched by the Alabama Extension Service, the plan is to try to rid the state of these pests.

W. H. Gregory and W. A. Ruffin, extension livestock specialist and entomologist, say that with everyone cooperating the job can be done. Better health and higher meat and milk production on farms will result.
This summer the state and homes of flies and mosquitoes.

Spray inside all outbuildings with a mixture of one pound of 50 per cent DDT in 50 gallons of water. To treat a few animals use this mixture. For a large number of animals it is cheaper to use one pound of DDT in four gallons of water.

Use DDT mixture on the home duty cow by rubbing on the material with a cloth or sack.
A hand sprayer can be used in spraying small herds of cattle and a few outbuildings. For 100 or more cattle and large buildings, use a power sprayer.

Spray livestock three or four times during the summer and outbuildings once or twice. One gallon of spray will treat six or eight cows. The DDT will cost about three cents a spraying for each head.

Control flies and mosquitoes in the outbuildings and on the livestock and there will be almost none around the house. For spraying screens and inside the home, use an emulsion that contains 25 per cent DDT. Mix one part of emulsion and four parts of water.

Grissett May 2, for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. J. M.
O. Sanders gave the devotional, reading a passage from Samuel 17, also led in prayer.

After roll call, reading of minutes and reports from the different committees, Miss Mathe Mathews gave a very interesting lesson on the "Do's and Don'ts of the Uses of DDT."

At the conclusion of the lesson the meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. M. Grissett in June. — Mrs. M. M. Newsome,
